

Reports

Center for Learning Outcomes Assessment

The Center for Learning Outcomes Assessment (CLOA), located at Indiana State University in Terre Haute, IN, coordinates and the administration of the University Learning Outcomes Assessment (UniLOA) and maintenance of its National Database.

A number of reports and presentations are available through the links below:

The UniLOA Handbook

An introductory guide to understanding, administering, and interpreting The University Learning Outcomes Assessment

UniLOA PowerPoint Presentation

An overview of the UniLOA in a PowerPoint format

Fast Facts Flier

A downloadable flyer that presents an overview of the UniLOA

The 2010 National Report of Means

The 2010 National Report of Means presents findings of the 2008-2009 Academic Year

The American College Fraternity

This report presents findings of a study investigating the impact of fraternity membership on student growth, learning, and development

Growth, Learning, and Development of Intercollegiate Student-Athletes

This report presents preliminary findings of an ongoing study of college student-athletes from across the nation.